

Blog

Blog

Highlighting Real Estate & Property Management Developments Across NYC and Beyond

Recent Posts

Is AI the Next Frontier for Property Management?

by [Author Name] | May 1, 2017

Artificial intelligence is one technology we can look forward to disrupting property management, and the outlook seems positive both for industry insiders and tenants.

read more

The Many Stories of New York's Skyscraper Museum

by [Author Name] | Feb 28, 2017

The Skyscraper Museum located in downtown Manhattan-Battery Park-attempts to answer the often-unasked question: How and why were skyscrapers first conceived? And once built, what do they become?

read more

The Greenest Ways to Go

by [Author Name] | Jan 19, 2017

More than a niche issue, the fate we choose for our bodies after life and the environmental impact of those choices is generating an increasing amount of public interest. Within limited urban real estate, cemeteries frequently lie in well-trafficked neighborhoods; their management – or the lack thereof – is highly visible.

read more

Visit Main Site

Website